

One of our National Library of Medicine regional goals this year is that "75% of our online sessions will have a public library presence. "

We're offering two upcoming online sessions that might be of interest to you - which are FREE to attend.

1) Breezing Along with the RML -Wed. August 18, 10:00 Mountain Time, 11:00 Central Time

1) Tune in as Siobhan Champ-Blackwell, Community Outreach Liaison and guest presenter Sharon Medcalf, Associate Director of the Center for Preparedness Education, present a model for librarians to use to become involved in preparedness planning in their community. Ideas will be presented on ways to get involved from the "Pre-Crisis" stage through the recovery period.

2) Betsy Kelly, Assessment & Evaluation Liaison will be presenting "Online Surveys: Some Tips and Tools." She will review the creation and administration of online surveys and compare some of the free easy-to-use tools available, on the Internet.

URL: <https://webmeeting.nih.gov/mcr/>. Equipment: connection to the Internet and a phone. Login: as a guest with your first and last name. Instructions to connect to the audio will show up once you've logged in. Captioning will be provided. .

2) Spotlight! on NLM Resources -Alcohol and Drug Abuse Resources -August 25, 2010

Tune in at 12:00 pm Mountain Time/1:00 pm Central Time. Alcohol and Drug Abuse Resources will be the subjects presented by Jim Honour. Register online at <http://tinyurl.com/mcrclasses> (registration is not required but is appreciated).

URL: <https://webmeeting.nih.gov/mcr/>, Equipment: connection to the Internet and a phone. Login: as a guest with your first and last name, Instructions to connect to the audio will show up once you've logged in. Captioning will be provided.

And they will be archived later at:

<http://nnlm.gov/mcr/education/online.html>

Questions? Contact mmagee@unmc.edu.